JOHN MASON BROWN APPEARS HERE TODAY

John Mason Brown, popular dramatic critic and reviewer appeared here in a chapel program this morning. Mr. Brown's appearance on the campus was the ninth number on the Entertainment Course Program.

One of the characteristics which distinguish John Mason Brown from the other prevailing dramatic critics of New York is the depth and typicality of his interest in the theatre as a theatre. He is young enough to be enthusiastic and old enough to be wise. He knows the current theatre not alone as the critic of the Theatre Post but also as the former Associate Editor of Theatre Arts Monthly. His topic "Broadway in Review" portrays his scholarly knowledge of the history of the stage, the technique of acting and producing, the art of stage design and his two books, "The Modern Theatre in Revolt" and "The Modern Theatre in Revolt."

These are the gifts that make him an ideal dramatic critic. His combination of wide knowledge and good taste with clear delivery and gay humor might be described as a perfect recipe for a successful lecturer. For the discriminating theatregoer, the best way to avoid wasting time on uninteresting plays is to hear what Mr. Brown has to say about them before purchasing tickets.

MATH DEPARTMENT OFFERS TWO COURSES OF NEW VARIETY

The Mathematics Department is offering two courses this spring, one particularly for students whose major interests are not in the physical science group. Both of these courses will count toward the degree requirement in physical science. Mathematical Theory of Functions, Mathematics 202, is to be given on seven hours, Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. Problems of compound interest, annuities, insurance, amortization, and bonds will be considered. Elementary statistics, Mathematics 207, giving a quarter hours credit will meet on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday the first hour. The first half of the course will be repeated the fourth hour during the mid-spring term so that mid-spring term students may take the entire course.

Statistical topics which will be discussed include frequency distribution, measures of central tendency, measures of dispersion, skewness, moments, linear trends, simple correlation, curve-fitting, and index numbers.

COMMERCE CLUB HAS ELDORADO AND HERRIN GROUPS AS GUESTS

The Commerce Club held its bi-weekly meeting at six forty-five on February 11 instead of at seven o'clock, the usual time, in order to avoid a conflict with the Kappa Kappa Gamma meeting.

Two delegates, the Eldorado and Herrin High Schools' Commercial club, had charge of the program. Professor Dodd, principal of the Eldorado High School spoke on "Broad Business of Commercial Education." The remainder of the program consisted of a short drama by two members of the Eldorado debating team, a mock-dance by two members of the Herrin club, a demonstration of letter writing by a member of the Herrin club, and a short talk by Miss Virginia Driver, one of the faculty members of the Herrin education.

The next meeting will feature either Dr. Thainian and his "black magic" or Dr. Young with a talk on "Comic Ray."

SHARKNAS RECEIVES TWO ASSISTANTSHIPS OFFERS; ACCEPTS U. of I.

Joe Sharknas, a senior from West Frankfort and a chemistry major has received two offers of assistantships, one at the Ohio State University and the other at the University of Illinois. Mr. Sharknas accepted the offer at the University of Illinois. This offer of assistantship has come unusually early. Mr. Sharknas being the first to receive one.

BARRERE LITTLE SYMPHONY WILL GIVE REAL TREAT

When the Barrere Little Symphony appears here Tuesday evening, college students and concert association members will enjoy a unique musical privilege since the Barrere Symphony is the oldest and best of its kind. Composed of 14 members, all virtuosos, and playing eleven different musical instruments the symphony is devoted to the playing of the lesser-known works of the great masters, pieces which are unknown because they were written for the rare collection of musical instruments that Barrere Little Symphony boasts.

For 21 years now this Little Symphony under the direction of George Barrere, famous French flutist, has traveled extensively over the United States, presenting its unusual, but thoroughly delightful concert.

The St. Louis Globe Democrat following a concert of the Barrere Little Symphony reported, "One of the most interesting and exciting concerts of the music year. Barrere's conducting was marked by French clarity and French appreciation, and mastery of style, delicacy, subtlety were in his readings."

Further away the San Francisco Journal declared, "The Little Symphony was not misnamed for its instruments produce all the symphonic colors in pastel shades and paint with them some delightful miniature pictures." According to the Houston Post, "The perfection of a well-balanced ensemble of musicians and a conductor of Barrere's caliber produced music that is seldom matched for its degree of perfection."

"Mr. Barrere's Little orchestra," declared the New York Times, "is a tour de force in the art and refinement of expression was irresistible."

Robert Kell Talks To Seminar On Artistic Disintegration

Robert Kell in his talk "Artistic Disintegration" before Seminar, last week pointed out examples of the two forms of disintegration, artificial and natural. Mr. Kell spent the hour describing the manner in which disintegration takes place and giving the students a glimpse of the art of the artist.

Pre-Registrations For Spring Term Allowed

The tentative plan for registration for the Spring Term will be as follows: Advanced registration, with the exception of the payment of fees, will be permitted for Juniors and seniors only during the last week of the winter term. Arrangements will be made to complete freshmen and sophomore registration in the Main Building on registration day. Representatives of all departments will have desks somewhere on the second floor of the Main Building so that the student may complete his registration without going to any other place except the Business Office and the School Physician's office. Miss Shank, Mr. Miles, Mr. Wham, and Miss Boyer are asked to assist as a committee to have the necessary arrangements made for registration.

PULLIAM, MERWIN ATTEND MEETING IN NEW ORLEANS

President Roscoe Pulliam and Dr. Bruce W. Merwin left for New Orleans, Louisiana, today to attend the 21st annual meeting of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association, where President Pulliam is to appear on the program tomorrow morning as the leader of a discussion regarding a paper on "Teacher Training Neglects Its Fundamental Bases," presented by Professor W. W. Charters of Ohio State University. They will spend approximately one week in attendance.

A large part of President Pulliam's time will be spent in the division of the American Association of Teachers Colleges, in which section he is to lead his discussion. Dr. Merwin will devote more interest to the division of Superintendence of Student Teaching, which is a sub-division of the A. A. T. C. He is one of a committee of seven comprising the Research Committee of that organization.

REFUGEES MOVED TO ANNA CAMPS; NONE ON CAMPUS

After a three-weeks stay, the last of the refugees from the Ohio-Mississippi river left the S. I. N. U. campus Tuesday morning. The first quartering of these homeless has been January 25.

According to the count made Monday of the refugees on this campus, there were 230 white and 183 Negro persons. However, some of this number are believed to have been moved Monday after the count had been made.

Notice of withdrawal was given the refugees at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning and evacuation of the gymnasium began at 8:45.

Work began Tuesday afternoon re-arranging the furniture to its normal appearance as dining tables in the first floor corridors of the Main building were stacked, and workers began restoring the gymnasium to their former conditions.

BRUSH TRAINING SCHOOL CARRIES ON HOT LUNCH EXPERIMENT

PULLIAM, MERWIN ATTEND MEETING IN NEW ORLEANS

Under the supervision of Mrs. Helen J. Under, nurse for the public school of Carbondale, the Brush Training School is carrying on an experiment in hot noon lunches.

For the sum of ten cents the children are served two sandwiches, one of white and one of brown bread, a soup or chowder containing vegetables and meat, some kind of fruit, milk or hot cocoa. Occasionally meat and dressing with a salad or vegetable are substituted for the chowder.

Originally started for the benefit of underprivileged children, the plan has spread to include all children, which wish to eat lunch at school, from 60 to 100 are served daily.

The children are served at long tables in the basement dining room, at individual places set on white paper napkins. And up, add flavor to the proceedings, soft music is played on a victrola during lunch.

The children are taught table manners by Mrs. Jean but have a grand time talking and eating together in a quiet and orderly fashion.

It's nothing short of amazing that such good little meals can be served for such a small sum. But it's being done and in a fine fashion. Mr. W. G. Chase, Superintendent of the Brush and Allen Training Schools, is very pleased with its success.

"After buying dishes," he said, "we're still money ahead."

One act in economy is the fact that two women on WPA do the cooking. But it just goes to show how much can be accomplished where service rather than profit is the goal. On the basis of this little experiment, a strong incentive to build up a similar unit on the college campus should be aroused.

Announce New Plan For Sending Out Grades

Mrs. Marjorie Shank, registrar, said that all students who destroy their final grades before registering for the Spring Term should leave a self-addressed postal card with the teacher of the course. The faculty member will then send out the grades to students who wait cards at the Registrar's Office. This will save the time of the Registrar's Office and the Registrar's Office some trouble, and it will not be a burden to the members of the faculty.

COUNCIL FUND FOR REFUGEES NOW AT $175

COUNCIL FUND FOR REFUGEES NOW AT $175

The latest report from the S. I. N. U. Student Council shows that the council has raised about one hundred and seventy-five dollars which is going to be turned over for the care of the refugees now situated on our campus.

The National Youth Administration has donated the services of a few students to help care for the refugees. The rest of the help is volunteer work from the student body. The work crews are under the supervision of Marshall Howell.

Students are now working in the New Gymnasium, Old Science Building, Holden Hospital, and at the emergency hospital at the Elk's Club. The students that work at the New Gymnasium work in four hour shifts all through the night, while those working at the Old Science Building work in six hour shifts, and the students working at the Elk's Club are in charge of the registering and all other stenographic work.

KALLET DEBUNKS MANY PRODUCTS IN SPEECH HERE

Revealing the worthlessness of actual detrimental effects of many high-priced products, Arthur Kallet, director of "Consumer Union," emphasized in his speech, "Advertising and the Consumer," presented at the Shyrack Auditorium Thursday night, the drastic need of legislation for the control of advertising.

"In reading the advertisements," Mr. Kallet stated, "most of us receive the impression that advertisers are interested in our welfare." By analyzing the chemical content of many well-known products and by quoting authorities on the use of these articles, the speaker not only proved that manufacturers have no concern for public well-being, but he also showed that their lack of concern necessitates legislation to protect the consumer.

Mr. Kallet debunked many cosmetics, foods, and drugs products with satirical comparisons of the real value of the product with its advertised worth. Dismissing Crisco (vegetable oil) as a "horse phobia" product, he revealed, "A few years ago the advertisers mislabeled their products and were brought under Federal jurisdiction for the offense. When chemists analyzed their product, they discovered the principal ingredient to be 1 per cent of a compound called mouthwash, antiseptics, and disinfectants. Medical authorities, he stated, agree that not a single mouthwash has the slightest effect in preventing colds or curing them. Disinfectants, he added, cannot prevent tooth decay. "Advertisers appeal to

OUTLINE PLANS FOR 'SECOND CAMPUS' TO BE ADDED TO S. I. N. U. EQUIPMENT SOON

BRICK-LAYING ON STADIUM TO BEGIN SOON

With the laying of the concrete foundation practically complete, the brick-laying work on the stadium project will probably begin in the near future, according to the latest report of Edward V. Miles, Jr., college business agent. Workers last week constructed the footing on the east wall, the last portion of work on the laying of the foundation. Laying of the brick on the east wall was also done last week.

Three contractors (bidding over $2,600) have been let, and some of the estimate order has been delivered. The other contractors contained orders for mill work and metal louver.

A report of the receipts and disbursements up to December 31, 1936 of the stadium fund reveals that approximately one-third of the total receipts paid $1278.80 from the FSA fund have been expended on the project. Individual contributions and expenditures listed in the statement are:

Receipts:
Federal WPA grants	$86,509.98
State appropriations	4,732.22
Contributions to stadium fund	7,142.42
Total	$98,384.62

Disbursements:
From the Federal WPA grants	$14,706.55
From the FSA funds	1,376.90
From the State	4,236.22
From the stadium fund	2,692.22
Total	$22,911.89

Progress on the campus works program is at a temporary halt with painters and plasterers unable to complete the work on the Old Science building which is now housing refugees. Electricians installing the new electrical system on the campus worked last week on the cables and light fixtures.

ZETETS MAKE PLANS FOR SPRING ELECTIONS AND DISCUSS PLAY

Plans for the election of spring term officers and for the annual play were discussed at the regular meeting of the Zetetic literary society last Wednesday night.

After the usual business meeting, the program was turned over to Anne Goggin, who had charge of the entertainment. The program consisted of a book review by Nancy Jane Dunn, a dramatic reading by Vivian Dunford, and two violin solos by Morrison England. The book review was on the book "Eyes in Gaze" by Aldous Huxley. Miss Dunford's reading was "Sky Sacrifice," and Mr. England's book review was "Communist and 'Play, Little Play'."

The "visions of the buyer," the speaker stated, exhibiting Listerine and Colgate's Dental Cream advertisements which promised romance to the users. "But there is nothing romantic about these products. Toothpastes, Fescos, Squibbs, Popover, cannot make the tooth white, prevent decay, or stop bleeding gums. For dentifrices dental clinics recommend salt water, precipitated chalk, or bicarbonate of soda. Oil dentifrices which claim to whiten the teeth the American Medical Association says, 'No toothpaste which doesn't contain strong acids can make teeth white. None advertised for this purpose are safe.'"

"The manufacturers' eagerness to seize any condition which the individual thinks he may have and to play

President Tells Of Possible Addition To North Of College

Visions of a second campus to be added to Southern Illinois Normal University were outlined Monday by President Roscoe Pulliam of the college. The vision is the latent outgrowth of practical plans now underway, which include the request, before the Illinois Legislature for funds to purchase lands and to construct on the land purchased a new training school building.

The request, included in the S. I. N. U. budget needs, has received the approval of the legislative committee of the State Normal School Board, and also the unofficial approval of the Board, so that it now rests before the Legislature, with action expected some time this spring.

A total of $50,000 is being asked to build a new and greatly-needed training school, and about $20,000 is being asked as the land-purchase fund.

The college has already received tentative options on most of the land in the twenty-acre tract to be set aside as the new campus. If future plans follow through, "This land is just lying idle back of the lots along the west side of South Normal Avenue, and extending from the lots on West Grand to the lots on 50th Street. This includes the hill commonly known as Ephraim Hill, the proposed site of the new training school."

Tennis Courts and Outdoor Theatre Included in the new campus development would also be a new set of tennis courts, to be placed along the flats just to the north of the hill. A new women's athletic field, and an outdoor theatre, are to be set out on one of the natural bluffs available.

President Pulliam is careful to state that no part of the program is a certainty, and that only the training school and land purchase means are now being requested. "The plans for the new campus are under study, and would be built immediately, is would the training school, if the Legislature approves the budget request."

The present tentative plans call for the opening of Thompson Street through in Mill, as a campus drive, which will double the size of the other drive. Drainage, clearance, and the necessary grading would be accomplished, probably with FWA labor.

The visionary part of the plan includes the construction later on of more buildings on the new campus, and the construction of a new building for the college, being given to student housing. At present Anthony Hall, girls' dormitory, is the only student housing building on the campus.

Advantages of Site President Pulliam points out the great natural advantages of the site. It is closer to the heart of the city and to the homes of many students than the present campus, yet near enough to the campus. It is a spot of natural scenic beauty, with the hill the focal point of the entire tract. On this hill, which rises in a gentle, undulating way, with its building additions in some sort of a square or rectangular arrangement.

Below would be the tennis courts and athletic fields on the north and east, and the outdoor theatre in a hillside to the south and west. Through the hill, new drives, and the entire territory would be laid out to bring out its many potential advantages. Drives would cut the new campus from Mill and Grand Streets, and possibly from Normal Avenue.

The prospect is not so far from the realm of fact as it may at first be imagined. Its fulfillment hinges right now upon the favorable reception of the State Legislature of the budget request for the final land purchase and the construction of the first building on it.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CRITIC IN UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL TEACHES AMERICAN HISTORY FROM OUR TEXT; MAY BE PUBLISHED AS BOOK SOON

Miss May Hawkins, social science critic at University High School, has a rare privilege. She teaches American history from her own text book. As yet unpublished, the book is handed out to the students in mimeographed and bound units—seven in all.

"The Economic, Political, and Social Development of Our American Nation," as it is called, is Miss Hawkins' second book. Some years ago she had published a small volume of sketches entitled "Famous Leaders in American History," which is widely used in Illinois schools.

Work on the book was really begun in the summer of 1932 when Miss Hawkins was studying the teaching of history under Dr. J. H. M. Brown at the University of Chicago.

One of her requirements was to take some high school subject and organize it for teaching. Miss Hawkins read and very interested in American history she selected that subject.

About that time Miss Hawkins had become very enthusiastic about the project method of teaching and began to use it in class following the outline she had constructed. Since then she has used the outline as a basis for teaching American history ever since.

"Of course," she said, "I am always writing and rewriting on some part of the book in order to improve it."

"The latter part of the book is different in that it stresses the economic and social phases of American history than ordinary. Unit six, 'America Enters the Machine Age,' puts great emphasis on industries."

In planning through the bound units she notices a very good set of hints to teachers. At the end of each unit there is a long list of references, a set of questions covering the unit, a list of terms and concepts to be derived from the unit, a set of "date events" (dates of important happenings), and a suggested list of famous men during the period studied for additional reference.

The "date event" idea is according to Miss Hawkins, an entirely new feature in history texts—one that has not to date been utilized in any other published textbook.

Of the work President Paulsen says, "There is a great deal of material in it that is new and important, particularly with reference to the development of the great industries of the country."

Miss Hawkins is very grateful to Mr. Warren, Mr. Merwin, Mr. Miles, and President Paulsen for the interest they have shown and encouragement they have given her in the writing of this book.

Miss Hawkins' book is one of the few recently written by faculty members. Estimates by book concerns indicate that it will take from $10,000 to $25,000 to publish the work, but she strongly hopes that Miss Hawkins is successful in finding a publisher.

RHYTHM NOTES

By MIRIAM BOWDEN

About a year ago a band leader by the name of Emil Velasco was touring the country with his orchestra. It was a spectacular affair, because he carried a $10,000 organ along as one of the featured instruments. Now, he is never mentioned. No wonder; the expense must have been tremendous! Too bad—he had a fine band.

Two new songs of great popularity: "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm" and "Roo Roo." (Slightly silly sentiments. "Looking Around Corners for You" and "Where are You" are also commendable. A good rhyming favorite of somewhat ancient origin is "Hush on the Moon." "Stardust," "St. Louis Blues," and "Dinah" are all perennial favorites.

Gladya Sugarbush is a beautiful, talented singer with a lovely voice. She can certainly sing very well, but she is not a singer. She is a pianist. She is a pianist. She is a pianist.

The rain is wet, falls in showers
And then beats the vernal snows
Like the rain but with, hey, he,
It wouldn't trickle down my neck.

Man tied dynamite to dox:
(Poor dox.)
Started running down the field
After the dox (he's your cue for laughter!)
Man tripped down upon the heater:
Dox and dog went up together.

Did it kill the man? Chindri know.
Cindri, find the man.

Bland, bland, bland foot on I:
In vain I let life's tallow run
And burn my candle in a sky
Refrillantly lighted by the sun.

He one night came home from a drop
At the pub
When under her winter he tripped
On a cinder

And rolled in the dust like a slovenly

He staggered the cinder, then looked at the window;
The rash had been painted a foot
from the frame;

There with did he render a tipsy, yet tender
And sweet serenade that embosomed her name.

"Correctly, macabsha. I love you most dearly!"
Indeed, I adore you, my angel diva:
The jinn on her white cross is waiting your answer:

My darling, macabsha, o' won't you be mine?"

Just then this loved lady, Correctly
McNady,
Awakened from slumber to hear him proclaim

In tones elevated, "If I be married,

name:

She leaped from the window his whispering to hinder
And called to him softly in laughter and flight.

"Go home my dear Mickey; my father is coming quickly.
To silence your singing; so home
now tonight."

"Correctly, macabsha. I love you most dearly!"
You are my beloved, no dream, but delightful!

I hear you did nothing; tomorrow for loving;
Till then, angels keep you; me
darling, good night."

FACULTY FAVOR ASSEMBLIES ON PRESENT PLAN

The results of the questionnaire about chapel exercises are given here. Since it appears that a majority opinion both among the members of the senior class and among the faculty strongly favors student assemblies, they will be continued on the present schedule with slight program changes as appear desirable from time to time.

Devotional Exercises:
17—Has definite important value to spiritual growth of the College.

4—Value, but should be changed in character.

4—Some value to College, but very important.

2—Little value, but necessary because of tradition and public opinion.

1—Cannot be value, but would regret to see assembly discontinued for sentimental reasons.

6—Objectionable to minority religious groups.

2—Should be discontinued at once.

2—Should be gradually eliminated.

2—Should dispense with all but the singing.

General Student Assemblies:
22—Believe student assemblies similar to those now held contribute educational and sentimental values that would probably not be secured in any other way.

4—Student assemblies are valuable, but the character of the programs should be changed.

6—Student assemblies should return to formal plan used prior to last year.

9—Student assemblies are desirable, but student attendance should be entirely voluntary.

11—Obligatory student assemblies should be held, but less frequently than at present.

1—Student assemblies have no value to the College and should not be held at all.

REFUGEE RARITIES

By JOE MATHEWS

"Our" refugees have a suite ready to go of troubles, various side-lights, etc., and those who work with them glean much from this repulsive treasure of human interest.

Eventually we may get the refugee work completely in hand—perhaps quite soon if we call out a few army divisions and maybe a battleship from Uncle Sam's. As the latest addition to our present quota of National Guardsmen and W. P. A. workers, we have ten men from Chicago who belong to the Thirty-third Division of Illinois Military Police. We'll soon need General Pershing to command our fast growing army.

All is not rosy with the children—our bright smiling morsel last week, a nurse, encountering two enterprising young tots who were at full speed in search of a scheduled playground, issued the edict that they either go to school or to bed. Whereupon bedlam broke loose with mothers and spectators alike entering the fray.

"Mac" and his aides are becoming quite proficient at effecting packs of peace, reuniting families, friends of exiles.

Very interesting is the gallery presented by the men loafing in the downstairs hall at the northernmost portion thereof. Usually some dozen men are congregated there, lounging against the walls and ranged along one side, seated on a pile of lumber. Some smoke continually on nondescript pipes—some chat quietly on quids, occasionally breaking their trance to speculate excitedly on a nearby box of sandwiches—some just sit silently, staring blankly—others talk in a dull monotone, once-in-a-while laughing tiredly—all are trying in their own way to pass away that time which proverbially drows on and on and on an' on an' on.

ARTHUR KALLET STRESSES IMPORTANCE OF WORK COLLEGE STUDENTS CAN DO IN PRODUCT ANALYSIS FOR CONSUMERS

By EARNEST BRASHEAR
"A great amount of good work can be done in the classroom in analyzing for consumer consumption," said Arthur Kallet. "Chemistry, home economics, and general economics classes can check the cost of ingredients of products against their selling price and find out whether or not the price is too high. Schools can do much toward educating present and future consumers for their protection. Surveys should be placed on comparing the cost of ingredients against cost to the consumer."

Arthur Kallet is a very prominent individual. He is about average in size, has very dark brown, nearly black hair and eyes, and on this occasion was dressed in a conservative manner, dark suit, white shirt, dark tie. He is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology with a B. S. in electrical engineering. He first became interested in the problem of consumer protection when writing on a related topic some years ago.

This interest caused him to do some research into the field and become one of the early directors of Consumers' Research. About a year ago Mr. Kallet left Consumers' Research to form another organization, Consumers' Union, of which he is the present director.

"Wouldn't a western or mid-western branch for Consumers' Union be a good thing?" I asked.

"Yes," Mr. Kallet replied, "I think a western branch would be good. In fact, we may make such a move as soon as we conveniently can. Of course, we have agents throughout the entire country purchasing products for our analysis, and so the deficiency is not felt so badly."

SOUTHERN DOWNS MCKENDREE IN LAST HOME GAME

Southern won its fifth conference victory at the expense of McKendree's cagers, 56-32, at the high school gymnasium last Friday night. Donald Fulton scored 9, and Lucas and Parsons followed for 24 points, to lead the Maroons and, incidentally, to bring his conference scoring record to 121 points for the season.

The entire Maroon team was playing "hands up" basketball and everything they did was to their advantage, as far as scoring was concerned. Besides the scoring efforts of Fulton, Lucas came through with 21 markers, Edwards 8, Broadway 7, and Parsons 6.

Edwards ended a pair of long shots to start the proceedings and was followed by Lucas and Fulton who found their eyes early in the first half. The defensive work of McKendree team from that point on the Maroons went on a rampage and had 19 points while McKendree gathered only 5 in the first twelve minutes of play. The Lebanon boys soon took a change of heart and brought their total up to 19 as Southern added only 3 marks. The half ended 23-19 with Southern in the lead.

Fulton was the offensive leader for the Maroons in the second period and led the Maroons to a rally which beat the Wildcats badly completely. Before the McKendree boys knew what was happening Southern had completed 16 points and they led only 22.

The defensive work of "Troy" Edwards and Bill Wolfenbarger was exceptional and Charley Broadway also put in his usual good game. Parsons' shot into the fray for a short time only but he bucketed 2 baskets.

Coach Lester P. Little was Southern's mentor for the evening. He coached the Illinois of Coach Alcarow.

The Cape Girardeau Teachers, featuring two flashy forwards, Kiehne and Godwin, staged a stirring rally, Tuesday night, to overcome and defeat the Southern Maroons, 31 to 27 in the last few minutes of play.

The game started fast and rough, with Fulton scoring first with a one handed shot from under the basket. He added another field goal and a free throw before Cape got down to business. Godwin and Sheroy then made the score read 2-0 and then the Southern team went on a scoring spree and over-represented the lead during the half. Fulton con-

AN OPEN LETTER

James Lucas
Donald Fulton

Dear Red Eye and Luc,
I write to you. We didn't realize what awful basketball you fellows could play until we saw you in action Friday night. Of course, the "Red" team was going "hot", but you fellows especially attracted our attention by your offensive work.

You may tell your grandfathers, either of you ever get married, that on played a whole of a game in the "Red" of the 1937 home season. Your 24 points brought your total up to 484 markers for the season in 1 conference contests. Lucas, your scoring hasn't brought you the acclaim of the conference but rather your great fighting spirit, your defensive work, and your baskets in a "Red" of the things which have made you stand out from the crowd in the I. A. C. group.

The small part about you fellows that neither of you have started wearing a larger hat. Neither of you have ever tried to show off. And yet all of you men have been good sportsmen.

We have three more conference games to play and let's see you get up of points and lead the 1937 Southern basketball team to victory in all of these contests against Charleston, St. Victor, and Shurtlet.

In looking over an old score book which happened to be lying around in the athletic office your cleverness following "Incident" occurred at Southern's gymnasium. Southern was 10 most Charleston Teachers in basketball. The night was a stormy one and the referee failed to make his expected appearance. Coach Lucas, the K. L. cagers trusted his "friend" Bill Wolfenbarger to do a good job of officiating. His bid—and was every one on the Charleston team was satisfied, even though Southern won 21-17.

Millikin is not to meet the Wesleyan football or basketball next season, according to a press release from the school. The school is not to meet any teams, which is a new freedom to compete in various athletics. What effect this will have on the I. A. C. is not yet learned. But your writer does know that if Millikin meets only such teams as Lake Forest, Wheaton, and Charleston, it will have an excellent chance to give the conference championship.

Also Martin, a graduate of Southern, is leaving a job season as coach at Pontiac. Martin is destined to 89 as a coach with an excellent chance to give the conference championship.

Without giving the selections much thought I would like to see the following cagers on the same squad: Forward: Wallace, Illinois Wesleyan; Fulton, Southern; Guard: Sullivan, Southern Teachers; Schellert, Illinois College; Pointner, St. Victor.

P. S. We had to shift Schellert and Pointner, both of whom are forwards to the guard post in order that the team selected should be a real offensive team. S. Thanks.

More than 200 artificial flies, all close imitations of the real insect, are obtainable by the modern fisherman.

Contributed 3 more points, Lucas, 4 and Broadway 5, to lead Southern's cagers during the first half. At the half way mark the Maroons led 20 to 11.

Cape came back strong in the second half, and suddenly found a different team. Kiehne and Adams started the ball rolling by dropping in two successive baskets. Edwards and Fulton continued to keep Southern's lead, but Godwin and Kiehne then took the game into their own hands. Godwin shot long ones from 25, over the court, and suddenly couldn't miss.

With a little bid by Kiehne, he knotted the score at 25-11. Another one of his long ones broke the tie, but Broadway came through in this phase to knot the score again and as there were only 2 minutes of play left, it appeared that the tilt would go into overtime. For a few seconds the play was all play but Kiehne broke through an over-lightening Southern defense to score and then Godwin made another long to clinch the victory for Cape. The final score was 31 to 27.

George Godwin carried off his high points with a 15 point over-throw and successful foul shot. Broadway and Fulton of the local aggregation scored 11 and 10 points respectively to pace Southern's attack.

AN OPEN LETTER TO JOHN L. LEWIS

By JOE BOREN

(Note: John L. Lewis' latest attempt at unionism is in the line of sport. He started the ball rolling when, on February 17th, he persuaded the club owners of the two major leagues that Lewis & Co. would attempt to organize professional baseball players. Only the coaches of Ford Frick, National League president, kept the baseball players who had assembled in New York City for a business meeting from sending Lewis a challenge to a General Motors.)

Dear John Lewis: If you decide to play baseball, John, if you would make a good outfielder—or your ballroom voice would slide into home plate as easy as "Ty Cobb" and to slide into second. And should you fly ball in the "sun, you wouldn't have to use sunglasses as these aviators you have ordered as special equipment by a kilometer.

But, Johnnie, your proposed attempt to organize baseball leads us to the bleaching lot believing that you have a keen sense of humor. Didn't General Motors' rent you out? Wouldn't they let you use as a pedlar? You should go out West, Johnnie, where the cowboys are. You know, these cowboys hit the dirt pretty hard, too, and they are more likely to appreciate intended innuendo. But your elbow action on those ball players—well, Johnnie, there's something too much friction at even the oldest joints and your new device, "Ty Cobb" is to be practical right at present. Better wait until you see how Franklin D. Roosevelt's Supreme Court shifts before you apply for a patent on your elbow action.

Baseball is 94 years old, Johnnie, and there's no sign of rejuvenation yet. The only change in the game since the day Abner Doubleday invented it is that consecutive companies were to reverse the pitching distance 15 feet. And it's beginning to appear that this game will have a better ball average than the Supreme Court will have after the last man is out and the game over. Yes, Johnnie, it's probably best that you should wait until you see the South Sea straight Republican.

Why, Johnnie, did you ever think of getting into baseball? Was it a dream—or is it that big guy check those ball players get every two weeks? Yes, sir, I believe that's it. A little corner of those checks could paper your house in for about one season—and the party's over. Just think of it, Johnnie—of course, you do—your economic security would be heavenly.

If you decide to go ahead with a ball bat on your shoulder will you use that new weapon, the "slit-down", to start a strike among the players? You seem to forget the large number of those players go on strike every spring—the papers say they're "holdouts"—and that they usually come to agreements without the service of a "go-between". So do be careful, Johnnie, or you'll make them mad, and they'll call you a "Red" again like they do the umpires, who as yet have not changed their tune to "Ty Cobb" from "Ty Cobb". You see, these ballplayers have a more combative kind of weapon when they're on strike than the slit-down. They call it the "slit-down". They call it down on the couch right in their own homes and listen to the radio, their wives and children, and everything. Of course, they might prefer a salary over the radio when the little wife and kids get into it, but it's the radio on, and you're making a speech about how things are slipping up, he can turn you off and go out and make believe you're a golf ball.

There's one thing you might do, though, and that's to send Mr. Martin down to Florida, where most of these players spend the winter and have him keep them in ice-water or lemonade while they sit on the couch. And if you can get another one of your boys to go along, why have him fan like hell. You've got to keep their brows cool, you know; else they'll start popping off. But don't send Mr. Green; of course, you wouldn't do that.

And another thing. Please be careful about telling those ball players that your plan will only make them more money which will help forty their old age security after their playing days are over. You see, they stage an all-star ball game every summer, and the money is put into a fund for distribution among down-and-out players. Old Grover Alexander isn't eligible yet for a benefit, so you might use him in a sympathy move.

This sports field seems to be out of your line. And it dawns on you, Johnnie, that your selling point is a white-hot barometer when you stand it into baseball, but out among the cow-boys for about six months, then come back and make up the "log" on General Motors—if you think the paper in the pantry needs more barometer.

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 16.—State Normal Post its eighth victory in state conference games by defeating the Eastern Teachers of Charleston, 45-35. Normals' Redbirds started early in the game but Eastern pulled to within 4 points, 24-20, at half time. Lewis Jones, top Eastern forward led his team with 11 points while Normals' forward and Glen Jaquet and Wilbur Bolding. Redbird guards collected 21 of Normals 45 points.

Macomb, Ill., Feb. 16.—St. Victor defeated Western Teachers, 47-35, in a rough game which saw 29 fouls called and 6 players thereby sent to the floor. Straub, St. Victor guard was high scorer with 17 points while Hughes led the Westerners with 11.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 16.—Bradley's sophomore guard took a long shot toward the Illinois Intercollegiate Conference championship by defeating the defending champions, Illinois Wesleyan, 32 to 26.

Illini, Ill., Feb. 16.—The Sturtevant College worked under wraps as they defeated Princeton, 25 to 14. The Princeton piled up a 15 to 3 score at the halfway mark, and a group of substitutes allowed the Princeton to score widely during the second session. John Kietz of the victors led the scoring with 9 points, followed by his teammate Ludwig, who made 6 points.

Shelbyville, Ill., Feb. 11.—Halleys in the last five minutes, the St. Louis University Freshman team handed to Spurz, Business College a 25 to 21 defeat, the first loss on the home court, for the Spurzies since 1935. Woodruff's five baskets kept the visitors in the game the first half and then he and Dennis Cochran, for St. Louis Wesleyan, star drove in for short shots near the end of the half and then with the contest. At half time the score was 19 to 12 in favor of the Spurz team. Woodruff led the scoring with 16 points. Cochran accounted for 8 points, as did Vyeber. I Spurz to be next in line for the cream's honors.

Cape Girardeau, Mo. Feb. 12.—The Cape Girardeau Teachers overcame victory's from a dull unexpected game with the Springfield Teachers by a 25 to 18 score. It was the sixth victory in eight Missouri intercollegiate Athletic Association games for the Cape team.

Jacksonville, Ill., Feb. 11.—Ottumwa led at the start and added to it throughout the tilt. Mills College defeated the Ottumwa Teachers, 35 to 21. The winners led at half time, 29 to 12. Lassiter, with 12 points, and Schellert, with 11, both of Illinois College, topped individual scorers.

Bearhead, Ill., Feb. 12.—St. Victor, 25, defeated St. Charles, 20, in a rough game. St. Charles' forward, Jack Coy, led with 12 points. The game was a close one, with St. Victor leading 21 to 19 at half time.

SPORTS SPLINTERS

SUNSET—Two stars are in the sunset—the Southern sunset. Three more games and Southern's basketball schedule will have been completed. And after these remaining games have been completed in the score book, the collegiate basketball careers of Captain James Lucas and Donald Fulton will lie among the mortals.

WEST FRANKFORT RED BIRDS—Having seen nine of the eleven teams of the Egyptian Conference and a few from other neighboring conferences play, in the opinion of Red Birds is the best balanced team in southern Illinois. Although defeated four times by conference teams—once each by Herrin, Harrisburg, Johnson City, and Carterville—three of the defeats were by two points on each occasion. West Frankfort's fourth defeat came Saturday night when Carterville outscored the Red Birds by six points.

West Frankfort has improved as the season progressed. The fact that it recently defeated Herrin by 20 points after an early season defeat by the same team is proof of this point. According to comment by its coaches, the defense early in the season has caused the Red Birds, as for their defeat at Carterville, it seemed to be "one of those nights" when everything done is done wrong. Only the night before, Carterville had lost to Herrin, which a week before had lost to West Frankfort by 20 points.

Johnson City, Harrisburg, Du Quoin, and other teams are teams with equal chances to elude the night of the Red Birds in the approaching tournaments.

FATHER'S POINT OF VIEW—When Bill Wolfenbarger was released from the McKendree game for excessive foul play, his father, who was a basketball player, said: "He ought to be taken out. Anyone that would send a hard ball that ought to be sent to a barber shop instead of the showers." If one will recall, Wolfenbarger's beard appeared to have about a five day start. Someone referred to him as "Barber Shop".

THE STRIKE OF 1936—Baseball's earliest strike on the part of a player was a one-man affair carried by John Clements, left-handed catcher of the Philadelphia Nationals in 1890. Clements had caught in two successive games when he was struck by a double-header in the ninth, when he formed the manager, Harry Wright, he would catch only one game of 2 supposed consecutive double-headers. Only one game was played. He was back in the days when a hand but one catcher.

DEFENSE—Like the National Guard, the football players are as a rule used in emergencies. The football division—the team out on the floor—is in the thick of athletic warfare with replacements as needed. Then the reserves get their chance. They slide brightly or flicker like the defensive light bulbs, glow or sputter, they play as best they can even though they would like to play better. They attack anxiety, and their conscientious efforts to please everyone are resisted, in many a case, by a lack of experience. They realize that a train of thought has wheels moving forward and backward and sometimes they are not so sure of the wheels and the train and the game itself. They are not so sure of the wheels and the train and the game itself. They are not so sure of the wheels and the train and the game itself.

Because of their surveillance placed on the sidelines, the spectators watch and analyze the actions of the players in the same manner that newspaper editors follow the moves of the players on the field. The players, however, are not so sure of the wheels and the train and the game itself. They are not so sure of the wheels and the train and the game itself. They are not so sure of the wheels and the train and the game itself.

Experience comes from bad as well as good plays, says the regulars. They keep the reserves close.

MAGMEN INVADE NORTH FOR GAMES THIS WEEK-END

Coming into the stretch, Southern Teachers take to the road this week for four return engagements with the Eastern Teachers at Charleston 19 tomorrow night and St. Victor at Bourbonnais on Saturday night. In games played here last month, Southern easily defeated Charleston, 44 to 23, but was given a scare by St. Victor before winning in the closing minutes, 35 to 28.

Although definitely out of the race for the conference championship, Southern can climax a successful season by winning the two conference games on this trip, and the final one next week-end against Shurtlet at Alton.

According to press reports of its recent games, Charleston has improved rapidly. When the Easterners came here the night of January 23, Coach Carson still was searching for a regular starting unit. At one time during the game, he had a complete team of freshmen on the sidelines. On February 5, Coach Carson's team came out scoring as usual. The Green Wave, starting in points, outscored the Eastern Teachers by only 10 points. Three night later, Charleston out scored Shurtlet by 29 to 21, which indicates that Southern will be in a close race for the championship.

St. Victor, although below Southern in the conference standings, is one of the teams most feared of in the conference. Don Resource, the big riple of the Green Wave, is its outstanding sharpshooter. He scored 12 points when his team played here and was high man in a recent game against DeKalb.

In what will probably be Southern's starting lineup for the two games, Fulton and Lucas will be at forward, Broadway, probably in center, and Wolfenbarger and Edwards at guard.

PRELIMS FOR TOURNEY WILL BE MARCH 23-25

Preliminaries of the tenth annual boxing and wrestling tournament will be held March 23-25 with the finals on the night of March 25. Vincent DiGiovanna, director of the meet, announced this week.

A record breaking number of entries this year, including as there has been, is expected. Interest in the sports this year, although the training facilities have been inadequate, several of the candidates for the crown are expected to begin training early next week.

The tournament had originally been scheduled for February 1937, but due to its postponement, the managers were located in the gymnasium.

The men who wish to enter in the tournament are requested to see Coach DiGiovanna as soon as possible in order that drawings may be made. The officiating will be in charge of Lester P. Little and DiGiovanna.

Coach Leland P. Lingle announced that he has his track meets definitely scheduled for Southern this spring and he expects to fill the two open dates as soon as possible.

The schedule as announced by Coach Lingle includes Southern meets at the conference of Western Teachers on the local track on April 2. Macdonald defeated the Maroons in their encounter on the local elders here last year.

On the tenth of April the Maroons will face Cape Girardeau either here or in Missouri. The following Saturday Southern meets Charleston Teachers at E. L. The third of April is open and the following Saturday Cape will probably be met again.

The State Teachers College contest, which has its competitors the five teachers colleges of the state will visit at Shawnee on May 18th. The next weekend is open but May 18-19 will be busy days for Southern as they complete in the Illinois Intercollegiate Conference meet at either Monmouth or Normal.

Barfing ineligibility Southern should have a powerful track team this season. All men who are waiting to try out for the team should report to the Southern coach at the beginning of the spring term.

VERGENNES QUINTET NOSES OUT U. HIGH FIVE BY 22-19 SCORE

A fighting spirit from Vergennes sent the University High eagles down to their fourth defeat in fifteen starts in a fast game at C. C. H. S. 27th Saturday night. The score, with only three minutes to go, was 19-19, but a free throw by Bastien, and a field bucket by Kline, Vergennes' scrappy forwards, put the game on the well-known log.

To be entirely fair, however, the local boys still showed that the lack of practice, made necessary by the occupation of their gymnasium. Then too, several of the boys were hurt by, some arms and slungshots, and due to typhoid shots, and analgesic vaccinations.

Bastien (Vergennes) was high with 11 points for the victory, and Turner with 10, and Ederton with 6 led the scoring for the locals.

The second team continued their winning ways by trouncing the Vergennes seconds 20-11. After the first quarter the second team led all the way. The score at the half was 9-4, and the home boys, bucketed twenty points in the last two quarters, while holding the visitors to seven. "Little" Anderson, was high point man for the locals with four field buckets and 21 points. However, every man played with one exception, scored at least one point.

The next scheduled game will be played early next week at Cartersville. Further home games will be announced in the Egyptian.

FANCY DRESS BALL DRAWS COSTUMES WHICH BOTHER GUESSERS

Students at the University of Toledo are in a huddle trying to dope out the answers to the strange costumes members of the Fine Arts club were wearing at their novel surreal ball.

Three years ago the local cops got the idea of chaining and locking the wheels of all illegally parked cars. It worked fine until a faculty member parked carelessly.

Rice Institute must battle for red-headed women before a recent census for economic reasons.

Different prices were set on the heads of the gods, depending on color, and on the night of the shuttle "bio-determiners" posted at the doors judged the hair-color of each incoming female.

Fellows who escorted "Sorrel-topped Sables" got two bits knocked off their admission price. Less fortunate men who took brunettes got a 15 cent reduction, and the least lucky who brought blondes got a 10 cent "down."

"Pay according to service to society" is the war-cry of the St. Petersburg Independent.

"The Dean of the University of Florida gets $241.67 a month; the official, who checks beer and whiskey sales for the state gets $400.

"Florida's governor is paid $225 a month; the state's racing superintendent is paid $750.

WOLFENBARGER-CARBONDALE TEACHER

COLLEGE DANCE BAND TO INAUGURATE NEW SERIES OF PARTIES

Filling a long felt need for public dances of the better sort near Carbondale, "The Southerners," S. L. N. U. Collegians, will inaugurate a new series of parties to be known as the "Friday Evening Dance Club," which begins tomorrow night at The Spinning Wheel, halfway between Carbondale and Murphysboro. Due to the fact that good conditions have caused postponements of dances on the campus and elsewhere in southern Illinois, and the further fact that the S. L. N. U. swimmers' reputation is growing very popular, the dances will be open to everyone at a subscription of one dollar per couple.

Progressives Elect Two At C. C. N. Y.

New York, N. Y.—(AP)—Launching its campaign to oppose the radical group which has dominated student politics at City College for the past year, the new Progressive-Student party skyrocketed its candidate to one of the three seats on the student council in the recent election.

That the influence of the radical group is still great was indicated by the results of class elections. The seniors and juniors elected their complete slates of officers from the Student Union party, the radical organization.

The sophomores split between the Progressives and the Unionists, but the freshmen voted in a full slate of Progressives.

Precautions now being taken to reduce the likelihood of blindness include the putting of nitrate of silver in a baby's eyes at birth, wearing of goggles in hazardous occupations, and use of non-shatterable glass for spectacles.

On a long march, penguins broke the monotony of walking by tobogganing or pushing themselves along on their stomachs.

dent is paid $750.

"A professor of science, who is a Ph. D. has a monthly salary of $153.33; a stamp clerk at the beer and whiskey department, who is not a Ph. D. receives $300.

"The race track veterinarian gets $50 a month during the racing season; the president of the University of Florida gets $500, having made the mistake of not becoming a horse doctor."

THE MUSCLE GIRLS —By GLADYS HANSON—

I know what some of the faculty members were terribly perturbed about the first night the refugees were here. Miss Baker and Dr. Scott couldn't agree about the size, and Miss Kibrikoff insisted they would shrink.

Miss Wilson was in a very unadmirable position on top of the radiator of Sue Crain's "Joleop" last Tuesday night. Poor Wilson has her troubles of her own, all right.

Nattie McEwen is Anthony Hall's "Jungle Woman." For Giffitt, son Hattie.

Sue-Crain interprets two slow waltzes and three fast ones as being 2.5 time. Pianos, Susan, it's just a difference in the notes.

However, that is in the folk-dance music the P. E. theory class was studying. Sue has no trouble at all in understanding oriental types of music.

Well, it was an effort, but Florence Molenbroek finally admitted that she wasn't the first head to rest on her shoulder. That was before, she says, but the situation was an entirely different situation.

In spite of spite arms, the bowling team goes well. The tournament will be played off this week among the high scores in each class.

A report compiled by the Minnesota Association of College Registrars shows that 25,155 students are now attending Minnesota colleges and universities. An increase of 5.7 per cent over last year's enrollment.

Vari-colored lights of different degrees of brilliance affect growing plants in different ways, says Prof. R. B. Whitrow of Purdue University's horticulture department. Some hasten maturity, others strengthen the stems, and still others stimulate seed production.

Half seldom falls at night, for the same reason that it seldom falls in cool weather. The earth being cooler at night, does not then furnish enough rising air currents to force raindrops to a sufficient height to freeze them.

CHI DELTS LOSE BUT STILL LEAD BOWLING LEAGUE

The Faculty entry took advantage of a 15 point handicap given them by the Chi Delt in admission to the third Greek aggregation 2 to 1 defeat last Tuesday. The same night the "I" Club turned back the K. D. A. team 3 lines straight to tumble them into the league cellar. Except for this latter reversal there is no change in the league standings.

John Eaton, Chi Delt, occupies the individual spotlight this week by virtue of a 200 point record during his team's lone victory over the Faculty. His closest competitors were Wright of the Faculty and Mel Jones, a fellow Chi Delt, each of whom rolled a 152 game.

Chumrich did not see action this week with the "I" Club so he still retains his 175 season average to lead the league. Dr. Craver and Mel Jones picked up a point apiece to have 115 and 171 season averages respectively.

Trustees of Amherst College voted $7,000 for the 40 new lamp posts to be installed on the campus next summer.
